13TH YEAR. NO. 205.

Mediation of This Country Again Refused.

AUTHORITIES ON THE ALERT.

lpanish Naval Movements Open to Suspicion-In Case of War Spain is Likely to Make a Desperate and Final Onslaught on Our Coast Cities.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.-President Mc-Kinley has received a cipher message from United States Minister Woodford, saying that Spanish Premier Sagasta has for a third time refused the mediano of the United States in Cuba.

The message was addressed to the president, instead of the secretary of state, an unusual occurrence.

The president has up to the present expressed confidence in an amicable solution of the whole affair. He is now less certain than ever and inclining to the opinions which he entertained nine menths ago, that action is to be forced mon him. Sagasta's refusal to heed the suggesions of the Rothschilds and other great Enropean bankers that the war be brought to an end by an acceptance of American mediation, is due to the premicr's keen political recognition that the election to the cortes is impending. and that a conservative majority will ecome a certainty should the white feather be shown toward the United States prior to the election. Woodford has expressed a doubt that the Sagasta ministry will be able to keep election machinery in the hands of the Liberals, t is fair to assume that Premier Sagasta will return for himself and his col-leagues whatever majority he may desire in the cortes.

Meanwhile Spanish preparation for a hostile emergency goes steadily on. Should war come, American naval officers, though committed to the theory of a defense of the windward passage, are strongly inclined to believe that Spain, knowing the certainty of her final defeat, would endeavor to go down in glory by seeking to avoid naval combat, and making a rush for the Atlantic

Single ironclads beginning attacks at Portland, Me., and following in turn at Boston, New York and what other coast cities they might strike could wreak incalculable damage if not stopped at the first attack. Secret preparations have been therefore made to maintain an espionage over Spanish naval operations at every point, in order to counteract any dangerous attack which might threaten upon the coast.

The principal European opponent of active intervention on the part of the United States has been Germany, but this is rendered nugatory by the recent occurrence in connection with the Haitian incident, and the inference is obvious that should the United States demand a settlement of the Ruiz claim and 100 others, whose voluminous records block the files of the state department, German objection would be copped at the very start.

There is a strong feeling, moreover, that when intervention comes, should Sagasta finally and peremptorily refuse all mediatory offers, it will come through the presentation of an American claim, the settlement of which Spain has refused

A.United States Consul Writes an Appeal For Aid.

Washington, Feb. 7.-Hon. Charles W. Russell, assistant United States attorney in the department of justice, has just received the following letter, acknowledging the receipt of a New York draft, mailed to United State Consul Barker, at Sagua la Grande,

"It is with unfeigned pleasure as well 48 inexpressible gratitude I received your valued favor of the 19th inst., transmitting $68 United States cur-

REV. DR. HALL'S ENEMIES.

Trastees Resign and Rich Members Expected to Withdraw.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 .- The trustees of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church have resigned. Announcement to that effect was made from the pulpit by the Rev. Dr. John Hall Sunday morning, and the members of the congregation were notified to meet at the church Monday afternoon, Feb. 14, and choose new trustees.

Dr. Hall read the notice in a sad tone of voice, but he made no comment on the matter, though it attracted attention among the pew holders, who began whispering one to another, but desisted when he began his sermon.

After the morning services Dr. Hall held a short session with many of his warm supporters in the congregation and afterward there were many conferences in the vestry room and the pastor's private room. The congregation is bound to stand by Dr. Hall, no matter what may be done by the session next Thursday evening, and Sunday they were giving him the warmest assurances of their support and assistance. The members of the congregation were loath to discuss the significance of the trustees' action, but it was admitted by Robert Bonner, J. H. Work and many others that it was the direct outcome of the differences of the factions in the church.

The trustees are financial governors of the church. They are also the financial backers of the church. They not only represent in themselves financial support, but also represent the McCooks, the Maitlands and Sloanes, who are supposed to be opposed to the continuance of Dr. Hall in the pastorate. The resignation of the trustees, following closely the stand taken by the congrega-tion last Wednesday night, is expected to be followed next Thursday night by the withdrawal from the session of many influential and wealthy members.

Robert Bonner, a warm advocate of Dr. Hall, asserted that the dissatisfaction with Dr. Hall by members of the session commenced with the Warszawiak incident last summer. Had that not occurred there would never have been, Mr. Bonner believes, the slightest opposition to Dr. Hall. Herman Warszawink had charge of one of the missions of the church. Charges of misconduct were made against him and he was found guilty by the session and dismissed from the church.

"Dr. Hall's sympathies were with Warszawiak, and he stood by him a little too long," continued Mr. Bonner.

MONEY QUESTION IN COURT.

A Detroit Lawyer Answers Suit to Compel Him to Take Silver.

DETROIT, Feb. 7.-Fred A. Baker, prominent attorney of Detroit, has filed an answer to a suit brought against him in the Oakland county circuit court involving the constitutionality of the Bland-Allison act and other laws pertaining to silver as a legal tender.

Stephen Baldwin bought a farm upon which Mr. Baker held a mortgage that became due to the amount of $364, including interest. Mr. Baldwin tendered Mr. Baker 364 silver dollars and the officers. asked for the cancellation of the mortgage. Mr. Baker refused to surrender the mortgage for the 364 silver dollars, but agreed to cancel it if he received enough silver dollars to equal, at the present bullion value of silver, 364 gold dollars. This condition was declined by Mr. Baldwin, and he filed a suit in equity asking for a decree commanding Mr. Baker to cancel the mortgage in view of the tender made.

In the answer, Mr. Baker submits that under the power "to coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coins, and fix the standard of weights and measure," the congress of the United States has no more authority or power, as far as pre-existing contracts for the payment of money are concerned, to diminish or increase the numcer of grains of pure gold or pure silver in the dollar in which a contract has been lawfully expressed, than it has as to pre-existing contracts to change the number of grains in an ounce, or the number of ounces in a pound, or the number of inches in a foot, or feet in a yard, or to change any other standard of weights or measures.

CROWD SURROUNDED THE JAIL.

The Physician Accused of Administering Poison With Intent to Perform a Criminal Operation - Mob Went to His House-Armed Guard Saved Him.

CHILLICOTHE, O., Feb. 7.—Great ex citement prevails at Laurelville, a village in Pickaway county, over the alleged murder of Bessie Neff, the daughter of a farmer residing at Adelphi, and the probability of the alleged murderer being lynched. The coroner rendered a verdict that the girl's death was the result of some drug administered by Dr. Samson, a local physician, for the purpose of performing a criminal opera-

As soon as the verdict was announced a mob of about 300 men surrounded Samson's house for the purpose of lynching him, but the constable, with an armed guard, finally succeeded in driving the mob back and placing Samson in the jail at Laurelville.

People have been coming in large numbers into Laurelville from the surrounding country and a large crowd is hanging about the jail where the prisoner is confined and it is feared that another attempt to lynch him is to be made, although the jail is strongly guarded. The funeral of the murdered girl took place Sunday.

Bessie Neff was found dead in the bedroom of Dr. Samson and subsequent investigations proved that she had been poisoned. The doctor's story is that she came staggering to his house apparently in great anguish and asked to to be cared for.

She was allowed to go upstairs to a bedroom, when an examination showed that her condition was very serious, but she died very suddenly, and before other medical aid could be summoned.

Washington, Feb. 7.-Joseph P. Smith of Urbana, O., director of the bureau of American republics, has died at Miami, Fla., of heart failure. He had been well known in Ohio politics for many years before coming to Washington on the inauguration of McKinley as president. For many years he published Republican newspapers in several Ohio towns and pushed Mr. McKinley and a protective tariff.

After Mr. McKinley's defeat as a member of congress from the Canton (O.) district by reason of a gerrymander, he immediately put the president's name at the head of the columns of his papers for the Republican nomination for governor. When Mr. Mc-Kinley was elected Mr. Smith was chosen state librarian. He and the president were intimate friends, politically and personally, and when Mr McKinley was inaugurated he tendered A Call Issued For a Meeting In St. Mr. Smith the office he held at the time of his death.

POTTER EXPECTED TO WIN.

National Assembly of League of American Wheelmen Convenes Wednesday.

St. Louis, Feb. 7.-Next Wednesday the annual national assembly of the League of American Wheelmen will begin a three days' session. There is considerable rivalry for the position of president between Isaac B. Potter, the present incumbent, and George D. Gideon, the ex-chairman of the racing board. Ex-President Sterling Elliott of Massachusetts is back of the Gideon boom. The chances seem against Gideon's election.

It is stated that the Potter ticket has allowed Pennsylvania, the second strongest division in the League, to name the first vice president, and the support of the Keystone state has been promised them.

social reform. INCENDIARIES AT SAVANNAH.

The Catholic Cathedral and Other Buildings Destroyed by Fire.

SAVANNAH, Feb. 7 .- Savannah's epidemic of fire continues. Damage to the extent of $125,000 was caused by a con flagration which started in a hay warehouse on the wharf at the foot of Jefferson street.

There seems to be no question but that the fire was of incendiary origin. There have been a dozen fires here within the last two weeks and there is considerable talk of firebugs.

Before the fire which broke out in the hay warehouse had been brought under control, flames burst out in the magnificent Cathedral of St. John the Baptist, the head of the Catholic church in the state of Georgia, and it was soon a mass of ruins. Loss, $225,000; insurance, $60,000.

M. P. Church.

The pastor, Reverend Swift, took as the topic of his talk on Sunday morning a part of the 53d chapter of Isaiah. The reverend gentleman spoke very earnestly of the suffering and humility of the Son of God while here upon earth, declaring that it was not the physical comeliness or beauty of the Savior of the world which won men, but his wonderful love for fallen humanity and the absolute cleanness and integrity of his life, characteristics which make a man live again among his fellows, long after the physical man lies mouldering amid the dust. It is not always the man wno makes the loudest prayers and shouts the loudest 'amens' that possesses the highest type of Christian life. These are very good in their place. But the true Christian best exemplifies his profession who has Christ in his inner life, deep down in his heart. and demonstrates the fact by his every day walk and conversation, as he engages, day by day, in his life pursuit or vocation. If I, as a Christian minister, would enter some of these saloons daily, endeavoring to do good to the men employed there, the members of the church would very soon be hunting after another pastor. And yet Christ dared to speak to Mary Magdalene; and when reproved by his disciples for so doing, spake the memorable words which have rung out through the intervening centuries: "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone." There was not a single stone cast. Then Jesus turned to the poor, sinful, loving woman, saying: "Neither do I condemn thee; go, and sin no more." Men, the day is coming -must come-when the followers of Christ must go to these saloons and dens of infamy, kneeling within and without the doors, praying, on bended knees, that God, for Christ's sake, will rescue the perishing and save the fallen. Wa must go to the sinners, if they will not come to us. In the city of East Liverpool, this morning, there is assembled in the churches about one-tenth of the the work daily requires. #### Second M. E. Church.

Rev. S. B. Salmon, of the Second M. E. church, last evening preached to an immense audience. During his discourse he spoke of the saloon curse and admonished all Christians to do their duty toward wiping out the evil. There were twelve persons forward yesterday, and eight conversions. The interest continues unabated. About 90 persons have professed conversion during the series of meetings.

First Presbyterian.

As usual the First Presbyterian church was crowded last night, and the services were very interesting. In addition to the excellent congregational music Miss Florence Everson and J. E. Brooks gave a duet that was greatly enjoyed.

Doctor Lee's sermon was "Heaven on Earth," the subject permitting him to give his interested auditors some plain, common sense advice, which if used into their daily lives would do them a vast deal of good. It was without question one of the best sermons the gentleman has preached in this city.

William Huff last evening occupied the pulpit at the African Methodist Episcopal church and delivered a very interesting address.

DEPARTMENT STORES.

The Prominent Part That Profuse Advertising Plays In Their Success.

Aside from departures in policy and innovations on a large scale, the originality of the department store is largely supplied by two departments, to some extent correlated. These are the advertising department and the window dressing department. One is the literature of the great store, the other its art. The shop windows are a great stimulus for the department whose goods are displayed in them. A good showing will often wonderfully increase the sale of the stock as well as attract customers to the store who are new to it. Frequently the head advertising man is the general manager of the store. Whether this is the case or not, he is a general supervisor of the establishment, with a complete knowledge of its ever changing detail. Every day he holds consultations with beads of departments to find out what particular lines of articles they want boomed, and about those articles he writes alluring statements for the shopping public to read, sometimes arranging for illustrations with them.

The amount of money spent for advertising is appalling when looked upon as an expense. One great store in Philadelphia spends on an average $1,000 every day in the year, and a good many spend $500 a day. The advertising receives probably more of the personal attention of the head of the house than any other department. The head of the firm which expends the great sum just mentioned personally suggests and frequently writes the leading lines in the daily announcement. The proprietor of a great store in Brooklyn does this invariably and thinks the time well spent which partment tends to enlarge this expenditure, as the store reaches out to the utmost parts of the country, and the future will no doubt see an even greater development in the effort to secure mail customers in the small towns and in country places -Samuel Hopkins Ad ams in Scribner's.

In the court of Squire Hill this morning McGowan Brothers commenced action against Moses Philo and Sylvanus Debee for $212.80. The case will be heard tomorrow.

In the court of Squire Rose a forcible detention action was commenced by Delia Morris against Katie Steen, while Melvin Gregg sues Henry Stilwell for $36. The cases will be heard tomorrow.

They Raised the Cry.

In the prison scene of the "Drummer Boy of Shiloh" the prisoners use the cry of "Bread! Bread!" Yesterday afternoon a crowd of small boys took up the cry, and when a man came along Sixth street leading a colt they made a rush at him shouting "Bread! Bread!" This frightened the animal and the man was dragged half a block before it was stopped.

Why Is This?

Within the last month almost every hotel of any size in the city has been advertised for sale. Yesterday the following was in the business opportunities column of a Pittsburg paper:

PREPARED FOR WAR.

ENGLAND SEEMS TO HAVE WON HER POINT IN CHINA.

Apparent Success of Her Demand For Open Markets-China May Profit by the Rivalry of the Powers-England's Vast Preparations For War.

It is now pretty generally recognized that the eastern crisis had passed beyond the point of immediate danger before the public was informed of its acute phase. There is no longer much doubt that England's peremptory demand for open Chinese markets has received what may be described as a tacit and temporary recognition from the powers, including Russia. The struggle for paramount influence at Peking still goes on, and upon the issue of that contest much depends.

China, if she exercises her usual oriental shrewdness, ought to profit much at the expense of British and Russian rivalry, and there is already evidence that she is fully alive to the possibilities of the situation. The game of the division of the Chinese empire has been checked for the time being, but if Lord Salisbury succeeds in regaining the ascendency at Peking which he allowed to slip away to Russia three years ago it will be only at enormous cost. Meantime more complete details of the vast preparations for war undertaken by the British government are now available. Inasmuch as the crisis is only postponed, and at any moment may become acute, it will be interesting to indicate some of the measures recently undertaken.

First, there were the preparations for calling out the naval reserve; second, mobilization orders were sent to the commanders of the home naval stations, followed by similar orders to commanders of stations abroad; third, the completion of plans for the prompt organization of a flying squadron, which was to consist of not less than ten warships; fourth, the decision to increase the personnel of the navy by more than 7,000 men, which is now being carried out by the quiet enlistment of stokers and other classes of men; fifth, the increase of the army by 15,000 men; sixth, enormous purchases of steam coal and a general replenishment of stocks at all stations at home and abroad; seventh, the elaboration of a plan for an emergency squadron composed mainly of battleships more or less obsolete and old fashioned, but effective for home de-

The last measure, decided upon a few for 14c. days ago, attracted little attention in London, although it is not the least significant of the series, because it indicates the probability that England's foes, in the event of war, will include France. Of the 17 battleships included in the emergency squadron not a half dozen could safely be sent far from the home base, and as a matter of fact most of them would be assigned to specific positions in the waters separating England from the continent.

The British fleet in Chinese waters has been augmented since the trouble began by two powerful cruisers and two torpedo boat destroyers. Other steps have been taken, one of which escaped notice, even by rumor-namely, the dispatch of orders to the commander of the Australian squadron to hold in readiness for China the four cruisers Mohawk, Orlando, Pylades and Royalist.

The defense of Australia was to be undertaken by a half dozen small vessels, together with five small cruisers, a part of the cost of which is defrayed by the colonial governments on condition that they shall always be kept in colonial waters. This arrangement was considered safe because it was not thought that France, for instance, would be able to spare a single ship for those remote waters, and if any were sent they would not be able to keep the sea any length of time owing to the impossibility of getting coal.

The report that the Pacific fleet was ordered to China was only partly true. The whole fleet was not, of course, to be spared, but the second class cruisers Amphion, Leander and Phaeton are now under orders to be ready to start. Further enormous contracts for supplies of steam coal have been placed in the past fortnight at Cardiff and other south Wales ports. There has also been a large amount of speculative buying in connection with the possibilities of war.

Simultanously the north England coal trade has suffered depression, the only boom being in Welsh smokeless coal, on account of its advantages, which in wartime are obvious. Welsh coal goes to war no British mercantile vessel will venture to put to sea with the ordinary soft coal with which they are content in time of peace, for it is a modern axiom that the less smoke the more safety.

It is believed by some optimistic diplomatist that the easing of the crisis in the far east between Great Britain and Russia will have a favorable effect upon the near eastern deadlock and perhaps make it possible to settle the interminable Cretan question. These persons are not hopeless that Prince George will soon be established in the governorship of the unhappy island, despite the sultan's protests.-Special Cable to New York Sun.

They Are Interested In the West Virginia Glass Company, of Martin's Ferry, and Mad an Important Part In the Reorganization of the Concern.

George L. Matheney and Mark Douglass, long connected with the Specialty Hass company of this city, have severed their connection with that institution and after this week will be found occulying important positions with the West Virginia Glass company of Martin's

When the directors organized they chose Capt. Charles Muhleman. president; A. J. Smith, secretary; Mark Douglass, general manager. It is the intention to rush repairs on the plant and get the factory started at the earliest possible moment. It is probable the greater portion of the 200 hands to be employed will be working by March 1. The output will be a line of new and stractive specialties and pressed table

Mr. Matheney and Mr. Douglass are so well known in East Liverpool that the news of their new move will be heard with regret, although their friends will appreciate their prosperity. Mr. Douglass is among the best glass men of this section, and the practical knowledge he will take to the new concern will do much toward making the success so freely predicted for it.

In his capacity, as superintendent of the mouldmakers and designers at the specialty, Mr. Matheney has won an enviable reputation, having been here for nine years. He will have charge of that important department in the Martin's Ferry plant, and it is a foregone conclusion that under his careful supervision the designs will be of the best.

The gentlemen will take charge of the plant at once, Mr. Matheney beginning his work next Monday. They and their families have the best wishes of a large wirele of friends was the Drummer Boy From Start to Finish.

The Grand Opera House was crowded sgain last Saturday night when the last performance of the "Drummer Boy of Shiloh" was given.

The members of the cast had learned much from the first performances and the entertainment throughout was very good. There was more acting, and not break of any kind. Those who had won favorable mention before showed they were worthy the heartiest praise, and in that great audience they got it.

The playing, the music and the tableaux excited admiration, and the applause was frequent and hearty. It was without question among the best amateur performances ever witressed in the city, and had the Grand Army decided to present it again tosight the players would have appeared before another enthusiastic audience.

A feature of the evening was Nowing's splendid music. Seldom has the rehestra so pleased an audience.

Is a Plan Council May Be Called on to Consider.

CAN BE LEASED FOR A TIME

Then the City Could Take Charge of It, and We Would Have That Park We Have Heard So Much About-One Mem-

A plan has been set on foot to have council purchase Columbian park. Whether it will amount to anything more than a discussion at city hall it is now too early to determine, but it is known that at least one member ofcouncil favors the idea.

"The ground is in the market," said the gentleman, "and the city could buy it at a bargain. It could then be leased at something like $500 a year for say five years, and by that time Liverpool would be big enough to appreciate a public park. The rental would pay the interest on the bonds, and we would be Doctor Lee, of the First Presbyterian in pretty good shape when the time came for the city to take possession of the park for itself. It has often been argued that we should have a public park, and I think this is the chance of a

CHANCE FOR WING SHOTS.

Eugland Invites a Team to Its Championship Meeting.

The London Field of Jan. 22 has this to say regarding a visit of American wing shots:

"There is every likelihood of a team being organized to pay a visit to America in July or August to shoot against some of the American club teams. Judging by the scores published in the American papers, the home team would seem to have little chance of success, especially as only one barrel is used. There is a strong opinion, however, that the flight of the bird is not so difficult as it is here, but whether this be so or not the fact remains that the extraordi nary scores that are of such frequent occurrence at American clubs have never been repeated this side of the Atlantic.

"If the American clubs could send a team over here to take part in an international contest at the championship meeting, to be held in June or July next, it would be certain to create a large amount of interest, and our American friends may rest assured they would receive a very hearty welcome. Once started, the contest would probably become an annual affair and lead to a very interesting series of matches. If it is not possible to arrange for the visit for the coming championship meeting, the fact of an English team journeying to America would probably act as a stimulus for one being organized for the succeeding year.'

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, FEB. 7.

THE NEWS REVIEW gave its readers 30 columns of reading matter Saturday evening, much of it special features which cannot be obtained by any other publication in the city.

THE Republican party is against free silver, and those Republicans in public life, who support the Bryan's fad, should either get out of the party or endorse the Republican platform.

THE general assembly adjourned the other day in order that its members might take a look at Toledo. For this Toledo deserves the thanks of the entire state, since no bills were passed during the recess.

Ir is now given out that Colonel Dick wants to go to congress and has given up all thought of making the race for governor. Perhaps he thinks it easier to carry a congressional district than to make a winning fight in the state.

GRADUALLY the smoke of battle is clearing away, and the Republicans are seeing the folly of fighting among themselves. Unless there is a united effort next fall Ohio need not be expected to have a prominent place in the Republican column.

Aspiring missionaries in search of a field for action might turn their attention to Toledo with profit. The saloons were ordered closed by the chief of police yesterday, and all other persons who do business on Sunday were compelled to shut up shop. For a time a riot was feared, 3,000 people hooting the officers.

THE agitation favoring the inspection of the Ohio by the state board of health should be encouraged. It will certainly do us no harm to know the exact amount of liquid filth we swallow every time we drink river water, and it may result in proving even to the taxpayers, who object to improvements in the water system, that filtration is an absolute necessity.

ANOTHER lynching is threatened in this state. Perhaps a disgraceful happening of that sort while the legislature is in session will prompt its members to pass some bill that will tend to discourage those "influential citizens" who occasionally permit their indignation to get the better of their good judgment, and lead mobs composed of their fellow, but less prominent, citizens to do violence.

THE BATTLE OF A TRUST.

The fight of the sugar trust against the annexation of Hawaii is interesting because the result will show the real power of that great combination. The trust will suffer severely if the island republic becomes an American state. It may even cease to dominate the market it has so long held in its grasp. For that reason it will do battle until there is no longer any hope for victory. That it has gained some headway in congress it would be useless to deny, but even should not be taken indication of final vic-The people want Hawaii, believing that it will not only improve the condition of the islanders, but that it will serve their country in good stead when the time for action arrives. A large part of the next century's history will be written in the Orient, and if we are to have any part in it as a nation, congress must use its power against the power of the sugar magnets, who would not hesitate to barter national honor for a few more millions. The Republican party will be compelled to make a great many excuses to the people should the trust succeed in gaining the day.

The gospel meetings at the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday were full of interest. Reverend Belknap was at his best, and, in addition to the usual choir and congregational singing, a male quartet, composed of Thomas Edwards, Elmer Thayer, Joseph Edwards and Frank Kelley, sang a number of selections in the evening and in the men's meeting. At the night service the church was packed, the aisles and platform were filled and the stairway impassable, while many were turned away. The address was touching, and received marked attention. Many rose for prayers. Today at 4 o'clock there will be a children's meeting, and tonight Reverend Belknap will give a sermon "To Long-Faced Christians."

Warm Words From a Leading Citizen and Lover of the Right.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW :- I am with you, sir, in the advocacy of the enforcement of law and order in East Liverpool. And let me say, for your encouragement, that you have a host of good and conservative citizens at your back, men who will make themselves known at the proper time, when it will do the at the open manner in which the laws and ordinances supposed to control East Liverpool are being violated. There does not seem to be even an attempt at enforcement, and it is a burning shame that such a state of affairs can exist in our city. It is high time that those who have charge of municipal affairs in East Liverpool shall be called to account. If certain officials labor under the impression that they are amenable to no one but the saloonists and the so-called sporting element, and that this class can renominate them and hold them in power, let me assure them that they are counting without their host, as the great mass of law-abiding citizens are awakening to the fact that a disgraceful condition of affairs exist in this city, and that the matter must be remedied and an effectual cure applied.

WILL BLECT OFFICERS

Meeting of the Hospital Association Tomorrow.

NO OTHER BUSINESS SCHEDULED

The Annual Session Will Convene at the Y. M. C. A., but Nothing Connected With the Real Work of the Organization Will Be Done-The Committee's Plans.

A meeting of the Hospital association has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Young Men's Christian association. It is the annual meeting of the association, and no other business than the election of officers will be transacted

The hospital matter is now in the hands of the committee appointed by council and the committee from the association. That leaves but little work for the association, but a full attendance is desired.

The committee has a meeting every Monday evening, and the members are working hard. Secretary Keffer said this morning that they were corresponding with a number of parties with a view to ascertaining just what East Liverpool wanted and how much in the way of a hospital it could support. It is possible the committee will visit a number of towns and inspect the hospitals they have and their systems of management.

"It is the purpose of the committee," said Mr. Keffer, "to make its report as complete as possible. We desire to go so far into the subject that we will miners sailed for Dyea Saturday night leave no important part of this very important matter untouched. We want to go on record in the statement, and that we cannot do until we have made thorough investigation. It will probably require two months before we ean give the report we desire."

CENSUS OF LEPERS.

THE MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE AR-RANGING TO TAKE ONE.

Leprosy's Rapid Spread Has Alarmed Uncle Sam-More Cases In America Than Generally Supposed -Obscure Forms of the Disease-Inoculation Experiments.

Uncle Sam is arranging for the first counting of lepers ever made within our boundaries. He has received information warning him that leprosy, the most propagate in gelatin and other sub terrible curse of ancient and modern stances used as microbe food in bacteritimes, is on the increase in America and that danger threatens us from neighboring countries surrounding us on this

The senate bill authorizing Surgeon General Wyman, in charge of the marine hospital service, to form a commission to count the number of cases and report upon their origin is being put through congress, where it appears to have no opposition.

Surgeon General Wyman lately dispatched to the international leprosy conference at Berlin his chief bacteriologist, Dr. J. J. Kinyoun, who has returned laden with many fresh facts concerning the dread contagion. Dr. Kinyoun recommends that we count our lepers at once before taking further steps to stamp out possibilities of their spreading their misfortune. No one knows exactly how many lepers there are in the United States. It has been estimated that there are from 200 to 500 with marked symptoms. Our national quarantine laws provide for the detention of leprous immigrants knocking at our gates.

Dr. Kinyoun learned, however, while abroad that leprosy has lately been discovered to exist in a number of forms in which it is difficult to recognize it. Several obscure nervous and skin diseases known by other names have lately been attributed directly to the deadly microbe of leprosy. A malady hitherto known as Morvan's disease is caused by that bacillus. Sufferers from it are lepers, of course, though they do not suffer from the external lesions, sores or scales characteristic of common lep-

These internal forms of leprosy are now known abroad to be as contagious and infectious as the well known form, and their results are even more violent. They are common to localities inhabited by lepers of the ordinary type, but unsuspected sufferers have thus far been spared isolation. Other diseases hitherto known as syringomylia and airhum have also been found to be forms of leprosy in which the germs attacked the nervous system. It is very possible that these unsuspicious forms have entered our ports from abroad and that we have such cases propagating among our healthy inhabitant

New Orleans is the most serious internal focus of leprosy upon which Uncle Sam has his eagle eye. The number of cases are reported to be increasing in that city, although Louisiana now has a law for the isolation of lepers. As last reported, they number about 31, confined and isolated in a home on what is called the old Indian Camp plantation, in Iberville parish.

Key West is suspected as another focus of leprosy, the disease being imported there and the climate being particularly favorable, it is alleged, for its propagation.

San Francisco is counted as a close second to New Orleans in the relative scale of this same danger. Leprosy is known to exist there among the Chinese population. Some authorities would look with suspicion upon all thickly settled Chinese quarters as promising fields for a search after the contagion. Minnesota offers additional danger points whence the infection might spread. A number of cases isolated there were originally brought to the state by Norwegian immigrants. It has also been estimated that in Iowa and Wisconsin there may be many persons tainted with leprosy brought from Norway, those states being populated with many Norwegian immigrants. Leprosy has wormed its way in recent years into Philadelphia and New York.

Three years ago two girls were found to be suffering from leprosy in New Lexington, O. One was 18 years old and the other, her sister, was 8. Though the elder had shown symptoms of the disease since an infant, the younger child was allowed to sleep with her. It was believed that the father of the subjects had contracted the disease in the

Would we be exposed to increased dangers from leprosy through the annexation of Hawaii or Cuba? Just now these are mooted questions. There are 2,500 known cases of leprosy in Hawaii, but according to the present law in vogue there each case when discovered must be isolated in the famous leper colony on the gloomy island of Molokai, one of the Hawaiian group. The Hawaiian law is so severe against the unfortunates that it reacts to a great extent against its own enforcement. As a result many lepers on the islands are purposely concealed from the authorities by relatives and friends. As far as Cuba is concerned, leprosy is known to be dangerously rampant upon that island. It is said that lepers are frequently seen in the streets of Havana. Near our border lines we are still further endangered by its existence, not only in Cuba, but in Canada and the United tates of Colombia in South America. Into the last named it was introduced by a Spanish priest in 1646 and since then has rapidly spread until now, when it is estimated to have 30,000 victims and perhaps more.

Experiments recently made abroad had for their purpose the discovery of a serum antitoxine for leprosy similar to those antitoxines used successfully against diphtheria and other diseases Lepers were incculated with the serun, but as yet no significant success has been made with it. The chief difficulty is that the microbe of leprosy refuses to ological laboratories. The time it requires before beginning its deadly work after entering the system cannot therefore be estimated.

Perhaps the most satisfactory experiment from a medicinal point of view yet made with leprous germs was accomplished not long since upon a native Hawaiian criminal sentenced to death, but pardoned on condition that he would give himself over to bacteriologists as a subject of experiment. From the body of a leper who had just died were taken fresh bacilli lepræ. These were planted in the arm of the condemned. The first symptoms of leprosy appeared after a few months, and five years later the poor wreach died from the awful sting of the disease. Similar experiments have since been made with rabbits and other animals.

The end of Uncle Sam's efforts will no doubt be the institution of a national leper colony or hospital where he can safely isolate all lepers discovered in the States or at ports of entrance. - New York Herald

JAMES M'COLLOUGH'S MISHAPS

Would Have Killed an Ordinary Man, but He Escaped With a Sprained Ankle-He Is a Stranger and Is Working on the Pipe

James McCollough, an Altoona, Pa., man, who is employed on the pipe line being built by the Ohio Valley company. is at his boarding house in Market street suffering from a sprained ankle. The injury is the result of falls which might have killed an ordinary man.

McCollough and a friend occupied a room in the third story of the building formerly used as the young woman's home, and last night he went to the kitchen to get his companion a cup of coffee. After he had climbed the second fight of stairs he rolled to the landing below and from there to the first floor. Strange to say he was not badly hurt. and he returned to the room.

A little later McCullough went to the window, and leaning out fell. He alighted on the veranda, and on attempting to rise found this time that he had not been so fortunate. His eries soon brought assistance, and he was put to bed. Then it was found that his ankle had been sprained, and that he would not be able to work for a few days. McCollough told a reporter this morning that beyond that injury he was all right and felt well.

THE WEEK INSTHE SENATE.

Hawaii, Appropriations and Corbett's Case to Occupy the Time.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.-The attention of the senate this week will in all probability be divided between the Hawaiian annexation treaty, appropriation bills and the right of Hon. H. W. Corbett to a seat in the senate from Oregon. The treaty will probably occupy the greater share of attention today, but after that time the committee on appropriations will claim the time of the senate for the Indian appropriation bill, which it is expected will be reported early in the week.

This bil! will provoke considerable debate and by the time it is disposed of the comm tree on appropriations hope to have the fortifications bill before the senate. Senator Hoar will at the same time press the Corbett matter upon the attention of the senate as a matter of the highest privilege and several speeches will be made upon it. It does not appear probable, however, that a vote will be reached during the week on the Corbett resolution.

A CONTESTED ELECTION CASE.

It Will Divide the Time With Other Matters In the House.

Washington, Feb. 7.—It is probable that the program of the house, which has been confined almost exclusively this session to the consideration of appropriation bills, will be varied this week with the consideration of a contested election case. It is the purpose of the house leaders to keep the appropriation bills to the front in order to obtain an early final djournment, or, as the alternative, throw the responsibility for delay on the senate.

But, after the fortifications bill is disposed of, only one other appropriation bill is on the calendar for the present— the military academy—and it should not consume more than a few hours. It is the intention of the leaders, therefore, to fill the hiatus this week with the consideration of the Aldrich-Plowman contested election case from the Fourth Alabama district.

ANOTHER SELFRIDGE RETIRES.

A Peculiar Event In the History of the American Navy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.-Admiral Selfridge, who has just relinquished the command of the European station, went upon the retired list of the navy with the close of Saturday, having reached the age fixed by law.

The event is entirely peculiar in our naval history in that there will then be presented the spectacle of a father and son both on the retired list on account of age after having reached the highest grade in the navy. The father, Tho: as O. Selfridge, is now living in Washington, having retired in 1866 after 361/2 years' service, and his name now heads the naval retired list. The son, likewise named Thomas O. Selfridge, has 45 years' service to his credit.

> > RE-ELECTION.

The bank veto was accompanied by a long and exhaustive paper, which the New York American characterized as "indeed and verily beneath contempt, an appeal of ignorance to ignorance or prejudice to prejudice of the most unblushing partisan hostility to the obsequiousness of partisan servility." Yet this "appeal of ignorance to ignorance" was answered by the people in no uncertain tones, issued, as it was, on the eve of another presidential election and not long after the sorrowing American exclaimed: "The city is lost. The returns from the country come in all one way. There is no doubt that Jackson and Van Buren are elected."

They surely were, if the evidence of their popularity could be gauged by 219 electoral votes out of a possible 288. The opposition despaired of ever rescuing the country from the grip of "those rapacious rascals" who had it by the throat. But it was not many months before most of the opposition papers were hurrahing for General Jackson in admiration of his energetic action and proclamation in regard to the nullifiers.

'The intensely national and antiseparatist tone of Jackson's declaration,' says Mr. Roosevelt in his "Life of Benton," "a document that might have well come from Washington or Lincoln and that would have reflected high honor on either, though warmly approved by Benton, was very repugnant to many of the southern Democrats and was too much even for certain of the Whigs. In fact, it reads like the utterance of some great Federalist or Republican leader.

Doubtless the old general's hatred of ing of this proclamation and the order ing of troops and ships of war to South Carolina, the state, as he thought, of his nativity. It has often been declared that if Andrew Jackson had been in the presidential chair when the ultimate ordinances of secession were passed, 29 years later, he would have acted as promptly as he did on this occasion. but at that time it was the tariff, latterly the slavery question, which gave the southerners their grievance, and it is not believed that Jackson, the owner of 150 slaves, would have acted as disinterestedly as did Benton when the fugitive slave act was passed in 1850. We know that he weakened and rather than use the force he so vauntingly displayed signed, though against his convictions, Clay's celebrated "compromise bill." by which a gradual reduction was made in the obnoxious duties and the nullifiers placated somewhat.

During the summer of 1833, when his popularity may be said to have reached its apogee, President Jackson resolved to treat himself to the wine of universal adulation by indulging in some little trips about the country, but at the outset of his travels he was impressed with the unwelcome fact that there were some who did not willingly contribute their voices to swell the pean of praise. It was while he was going down the Potomac for the purpose of laying the cornerstone of the Mary Washington monument that, the steamer having stopped at Alexandria, a certain Lieutenant Randolph came aboard and pulled, or attempted to pull, the presi-

but the gallant old general proudly said : "No, sir; I cannot do that. I want no man to stand between me and my assailants and none to take revenge on my account. But had I been prepared for this cowardly villain's approach I can assure you all that he would never have had the temerity to undertake such a thing again.'

No one, knowing him, can doubt this, particularly remembering his similar reply to another under similar circumstances at the time of the Benton affray. The bullet he received at that time, by the way, was not extracted till the winter preceding this last assault, this happening, by the strangest of coincidences, when Jessie Benton's brother was giving To Suit All Eyes. the lie to Mr. Clay on the president's

Having performed the pious duty assigned him of presiding at the laying of the cornerstone, though the monument was not erected until 40 years after, the president returned to Washington, and early in June set out for a tour through the north and east, going as far as Concord, N. H., and Salem, Mass., being everywhere received "with every demonstration of regard which ingenuity could devise."

The time finally arrived for the expiry of the bank charter, an event its officials could not prevent or postpone, though they raised heaven and earththe Jacksonians said, also, another place down below. "I tell you," said the president one day to a member of the 'kitchen cabinet'' (whether to Lewis, Kendall, Greene or Hill is not stated), 'the bank is broke. She's broke, sir. Mr. Biddle is a proud man, sir, and he would never have come on to Washington to ask for a postponement if the bank had had the money. Never, sir. The bank's broke, and Biddle knows it." And when nine years later the poor old bank went down he was wont to point to this prediction and exultantly say, "I told you so."

A fixed idea with him now was that the government deposits with the bank were being used to debauch the congress. "My mind is made up on that matter," he said to the editor of his organ, The Globe. "Biddle, you know, is actually using the people's money to frustrate the people's will. If he had not the public money, he could not do it." Ergo, he was no longer to have the public moneys. They were gradually withdrawn, all deposits also ceasing, the increasing surplus being finally deposited with state banks in various parts of the country. A Chicago Girl Notes That English Women Have Lurge Feet.

"Under these circumstances we took our first drive down Piccadilly, and Europe to me dates from that moment," writes Miss Lilian Bell in The Ladies' the custom house, the train, the hotelall these were mere preliminaries to Europe, which began then. People told me in America how my hear? would swell at this and how I would thrill at that, but it was not so. My first real thrill came on me in Piccadilly. It went all over me in little shivers and came out at the ends of my fingers and then began once more at the base of my brain and did it all over again.

"I remember nothing definite about that first drive. I, for my part, saw with unseeing eyes. My sister had seen it all before, so she had the power of speech. Occasionally she prodded me and cried, Look, oh, look quickly!' But I never swerved. 'I can't look. If I do, I shall miss something. You attend to your own window and I'll attend to mine. Coming back I will see your side.'

My first distinct recollections are of the great numbers of high hats on the men, the ill hanging skirts and big feet of the women, the unsteadying effect of all those thousands of cabs, carriages and carts all going to the left, which kept me constantly wishing to shriek out, 'Go to the right or we'll be killed! the absolutely perfect manner in which traffic was managed and the majestic authority of the London police.

Mediation of This Country Again Refused.

AUTHORITIES ON THE ALERT.

testish Naval Movements Open to Sussicion-In Case of War Spain is Likely to Make a Desperate and Final Onslaught on Our Coast Cities.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.-President Mc-Kinley has received a cipher message from United States Minister Woodford. sying that Spanish Premier Sagasta has for a third time refused the mediapen of the United States in Cuba,

The message was addressed to the president, instead of the secretary of date, an unusual occurrence.

The president has up to the present apressed confidence in an amicable plation of the whole affair. He is now less certain than ever and inclining to the opinions which he entertained nine months ago, that action is to be forced Sagasta's refusal to heed the suggesions of the Rothschilds and other great Enropean bankers that the war be brought to an end by an acceptance of American mediation, is due to the premicr's keen political recognition that the election to the cortes is impending, and that a conservative majority will become a certainty should the white eather be shown toward the United States prior to the election. Woodford has expressed a doubt that the Sagasta ministry will be able to keep election machinery in the hands of the Liberals. t is fair to assume that Premier Sagasta will return for himself and his colleagues whatever majority he may deare in the cortes.

Meanwhile Spanish preparation for a hostile emergency goes steadily on. Should war come, American naval officers, though committed to the theory of a defense of the windward passage, are strongly inclined to believe that Spain, knowing the certainty of her final defeat, would endeavor to go down in glory by seeking to avoid naval combat, and making a rush for the Atlantic

Single ironclads beginning attacks at Portland, Me., and following in turn at Boston, New York and what other coast cities they might strike could wreak incalculable damage if not stopped at the first attack. Secret preparations have been therefore made to maintain an espionage over Spanish naval operations at every point, in order to counteract any dangerous attack which might threaten upon the coast.

The principal European opponent of active intervention on the part of the United States has been Germany, but this is rendered nugatory by the recent occurrence in connection with the Haitian incident, and the inference is obvious that should the United States demand a settlement of the Ruiz claim and 100 others, whose voluminous records block the files of the state department, German objection would be copped at the very start.

There is a strong feeling, moreover, that when intervention comes, should Sagasta finally and peremptorily refuse all mediatory offers, it will come through the presentation of an American claim, the settlement of which Spain has refused

REV. DR. HALL'S ENEMIES.

Trastees Resign and Rich Members Expected to Withdraw.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 .- The trustees of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church have resigned. Announcement to that effect was made from the pulpit by the Rev. Dr. John Hall Sunday morning, and the members of the congregation were notified to meet at the church Monday afternoon, Feb. 14, and choose new trustees.

Dr. Hall read the notice in a sad tone of voice, but he made no comment on the matter, though it attracted attention among the pew holders, who began whispering one to another, but desisted when he began his sermon.

After the morning services Dr. Hall held a short session with many of his warm supporters in the congregation and afterward there were many conferences in the vestry room and the pastor's private room. The congregation is bound to stand by Dr. Hall, no matter what may be done by the session next Thursday evening, and Sunday they were giving him the warmest assurances of their support and assistance. The members of the congregation were loath to discuss the significance of the trustees' action, but it was admitted by Robert Bonner, J. H. Work and many others that it was the direct outcome of the differences of the factions in the church.

The trustees are financial governors of the church. They are also the finan-cial backers of the church. They not only represent in themselves financial support, but also represent the McCooks, the Maitlands and Sloanes, who are supposed to be opposed to the continu-ance of Dr. Hall in the pastorate. The resignation of the trustees, following closely the stand taken by the congregation last Wednesday night, is expected to be followed next Thursday night by the withdrawal from the session of many influential and wealthy members.

Robert Bonner, a warm advocate of Dr. Hall, asserted that the dissatisfac-tion with Dr. Hall by members of the session commenced with the Warszawiak incident last summer. Had that not occurred there would never have been, Mr. Bonner believes, the slightest opposition to Dr. Hall. Herman Warsza-Wisk had charge of one of the mission of the church. Charges of misconduct were made against him and he was found guilty by the session and dismissed from the church.

"Dr. Hall's sympathies were with Warszawiak, and he stood by him a lit-tle too long," continued Mr. Bonner.

MONEY QUESTION IN COURT.

A Detroit Lawyer Answers Suit to Compel Him to Take Silver.

DETROIT, Feb. 7 .- Fred A. Baker, prominent attorney of Detroit, has filed an answer to a suit brought against him in the Oakland county circuit court involving the constitutionality of the Bland-Allison act and other laws pertaining to silver as a legal tender.

Stephen Baldwin bought a farm upon which Mr. Baker held a mortgage that became due to the amount of $364, including interest. Mr. Baldwin tendered Mr. Baker 364 silver dollars and the officers. asked for the cancellation of the mortgage. Mr. Baker refused to surrender the mortgage for the 364 silver dollars, but agreed to cancel it if he received enough silver dollars to equal, at the present bullion value of silver, 364 gold dollars. This condition was declined by Mr. Baldwin, and he filed a suit in equity asking for a decree commanding Mr. Baker to cancel the mortgage in view of the tender made. In the answer, Mr. Baker submits that under the power "to coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coins, and fix the standard of weights and measure," the congress of the United States has no more authority or power, as far as pre-existing contracts for the payment of money are concerned, to diminish or increase the numcer of grains of pure gold or pure silver in the dollar in which a contract has been lawfully expressed, than it has as to pre-existing contracts to change the number of grains in an ounce, or the number of ounces in a pound, or the number of inches in a foot, or feet in a yard, or to change any other standard of weights or measures.

Held Responsible For a Girl's Death Near Chillicothe, O.

The Physician Accused of Administering Poison With Intent to Perform a Criminal Operation - Mob Went to His House-Armed Guard Saved Him.

Сиплисотив, О., Feb. 7.-Great ex citement prevails at Laurelville, a village in Pickaway county, over the alleged murder of Bessie Neff, the daughter of a farmer residing at Adelphi, and the probability of the alleged murderer being lynched. The coroner rendered a verdict that the girl's death was the result of some drug administered by Dr. Samson, a local physician, for the purpose of performing a criminal operation.

As soon as the verdict was announced a mob of about 300 men surrounded Samson's house for the purpose of lynching him, but the constable, with an armed guard, finally succeeded in driving the mob back and placing Samson in the jail at Laurelville.

People have been coming in large numbers into Laurelville from the surrounding country and a large crowd is hanging about the jail where the prisoner is confined and it is feared that another attempt to lynch him is to be made, although the jail is strongly guarded. The funeral of the murdered girl took place Sunday.

Bessie Neff was found dead in the bedroom of Dr. Samson and subsequent investigations proved that she had been poisoned. The doctor's story is that she came staggering to his house apparently in great anguish and asked to to be cared for.

She was allowed to go upstairs to a bedroom, when an examination showed that her condition was very serious, but she died very suddenly, and before other medical aid could be summoned.

He had been well known in Ohio politics for many years before coming to Washington on the inauguration of McKinley as president. For many years he published Republican newspapers in several Ohio towns and pushed Mr. McKinley and a protective tariff.

After Mr. McKinley's defeat as a member of congress from the Canton (O.) district by reason of a gerrymander, he immediately put the president's name at the head of the columns of his papers for the Republican nomi-nation for governor. When Mr. Mc-Kinley was elected Mr. Smith was chosen state librarian. He and the president were intimate friends, politically and personally, and when Mr McKinley was inaugurated he tendered Mr. Smith the office he held at the time of his death.

M. P. Church.

The pastor, Reverend Swift, took as the topic of his talk on Sunday morning a part of the 53d chapter of Isaiah. The reverend gentleman spoke very earnestly of the suffering and humility of the Son of God while here upon earth, declaring that it was not the physical comeliness or beauty of the Savior of the world which won men, but his wonderful love for fallen humanity and the absolute cleanness and integrity of his life, characteristics which make a man live again among his fellows, long after the physical man lies mouldering amid the dust. It is not always the man wno makes the loudest prayers and shouts the loudest 'amens' that possesses the highest type of Christian life. These are very good in their place. But the true Christian best exemplifies his profession who has Christ in his inner life, deep down in his heart, and demonstrates the fact by his every day walk and conversation, as he engages, day by day, in his life pursuit or vocation. If I, as a Christian minister, would enter some of these saloons daily, endeavoring to do good to the men employed there, the members of the church would very soon be hunting after another pastor. And yet Christ dared to speak to Mary Magdalene; and when reproved by his disciples for so doing, spake the memorable words which have rung out through the intervening centuries: "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone." There was not a single stone cast. Then Jesus turned to the poor, sinful, loving woman, saying: "Neither do I condemn thee; go, and sin no more." Men, the day is coming -must come-when the followers of Christ must go to these saloons and dens of infamy, kneeling within and without the doors, praying, on bended knees, that God, for Christ's sake, will rescue the perishing and save the fallen. Wa must go to the sinners, if they will not come to us. In the city of East Liverpool, this morning, there is assembled in the churches about one-tenth of the the work daily requires. The mail depopulation—90 per cent out in the world of sin. The saloonists and men of sin don't care about our assembling in churches; they claim they have no fear of the result; but they will fear us and cry out against us when we go to them, and cry unto God to save them from their sins and the condemnation sure to come, and they will either quit their awful life or flee from our city. May God lead Christian men and women of East Liverpool to do the

DEPARTMENT STORES.

The Prominent Part That Profuse Advertising Plays In Their Success.

Aside from departures in policy and innovations on a large scale, the originality of the department store is largely supplied by two departments, to some extent correlated. These are the advertising department and the window dressing department. One is the literature of the great store, the other its art. The shop windows are a great stimulus for the department whose goods are displayed in them. A good showing will often wonderfully increase the sale of the stock as well as attract customers to the store who are new to it. Frequently the head advertising man is the general manager of the store. Whether this is the case or not, he is a general supervisor of the establishment, with a complete knowledge of its ever changing detail. Every day he holds consultations with beads of departments to find out what particular lines of articles they want boomed, and about those articles he writes alluring statements for the shopping public to read, sometimes arranging for illustrations with them.

The amount of money spent for advertising is appalling when looked upon as an expense. One great store in Philadelphia spends on an average $1,000 every day in the year, and a good many spend $500 a day. The advertising receives probably more of the personal attention of the head of the house than any other department. The head of the firm which expends the great sum just mentioned personally suggests and frequently writes the leading lines in the daily announcement. The proprietor of a great store in Brooklyn does this invariably and thinks the time well spent which partment tends to enlarge this expenditure, as the store reaches out to the utwost parts of the country, and the future will no doubt see an even greater levelopment in the effort to secure mail customers in the small towns and in country places -Samuel Hopkins Ad ams in Scribner's.

PREPARED FOR WAR.

ENGLAND SEEMS TO HAVE WON HER POINT IN CHINA.

Apparent Success of Her Demand For Open Markets-China May Profit by the Rivalry of the Powers-England's Vast Preparations For War.

It is now pretty generally recognized that the eastern crisis had passed beyond the point of immediate danger before the public was informed of its acute phase. There is no longer much doubt that England's peremptory demand for open Chinese markets has received what may be described as a tacit and temporary recognition from the powers, including Russia. The struggle for paramount influence at Peking still goes on, and upon the issue of that contest much

China, if she exercises her usual William Huff last evening occupied oriental shrewdness, ought to profit much at the expense of British and Russian rivalry, and there is already evidence that she is fully alive to the possibilities of the situation. The game of the division of the Chinese empire has been checked for the time being, but if Lord Salisbury succeeds in regaining the ascendency at Peking which he allowed to slip away to Russia three years ago it will be only at enormous cost. Meantime more complete details of the vast preparations for war undertaken by the British government are now available. Inasmuch as the crisis is only postponed, and at any moment may become acute, it will be interesting to indicate some of the measures recently undertaken.

First, there were the preparations for calling out the naval reserve; second, mobilization orders were sent to the commanders of the hon:e naval stations, followed by similar orders to commanders of stations abroad; third, the completion of plans for the prompt organization of a flying squadron, which was to consist of not less than ten warships; fourth, the decision to increase the personnel of the navy by more than 7,000 men, which is now being carried out by the quiet enlistment of stokers and other classes of men; fifth, the increase of the army by 15,000 men; sixth, enormous purchases of steam coal and a general replenishment of stocks at all stations at home and abroad; seventh, the elaboration of a plan for an emergency squadron composed mainly of battleships more or less obsolete and old fashioned, but effective for home de-

The last measure, decided upon a few for 14C. days ago, attracted little attention in London, although it is not the least significant of the series, because it indicates the probability that England's foes, in the event of war, will include France. Of the 17 battleships included in the emergency squadron not a half dozen could safely be sent far from the home e and as a matter of fact most of them would be assigned to specific positions in the waters separating England from the continent.

The British fleet in Chinese waters has been augmented since the trouble began by two powerful cruisers and two torpedo boat destroyers. Other steps have been taken, one of which escaped notice, even by rumor-namely, the dispatch of orders to the commander of the Australian squadron to hold in readiness for China the four cruisers Mohawk, Orlando, Pylades and Royalist.

The defense of Australia was to be undertaken by a half dozen small vessels, together with five small cruisers, a part of the cost of which is defrayed by the colonial governments on condition that they shall always be kept in colonial waters. This arrangement was considered safe because it was not thought that France, for instance, would be able to spare a single ship for those remote waters, and if any were sent they would not be able to keep the sea any length of time owing to the impossibility of getting coal.

The report that the Pacific fleet was ordered to China was only partly true. The whole fleet was not, of course, to be spared, but the second class cruisers Amphion, Leander and Phaeton are now under orders to be ready to start. Further enormous contracts for supplies of steam coal have been placed in the past fortnight at Cardiff and other south Wales ports. There has also been a large amount of speculative buying in connection with the possibilities of war.

Simultanously the north England coal trade has suffered depression, the only boom being in Welsh smokeless coal, on account of its advantages, which in wartime are obvious. Welsh coal goes to war no British mercantile vessel will venture to put to sea with the ordinary soft coal with which they are modern axiom that the less smoke the more safety.

It is believed by some optimistic diplomatist that the easing of the crisis in the far east between Great Britain and Russia will have a favorable effect upon the near eastern deadlock and perhaps make it possible to settle the interminable Cretan question. These persons are not hopeless that Prince George will soon be established in the governorship of the unhappy island, despite the sultan's protests.-Special Cable to New York Sun.

Is a Plan Council May Be Called on to Consider.

Then the City Could Take Charge of It, and We Would Have That Park We Have Heard So Much About-One Member's View.

A plan has been set on foot to have council purchase Columbian park. Whether it will amount to anything more than a discussion at city hall it is eight the players would have appeared now too early to determine, but it is known that at least one member of

CHANCE FOR WING SHOTS.

England Invites a Team to Its Championship Meeting.

The London Field of Jan. 22 has this to say regarding a visit of American wing shots:

"There is every likelihood of a team being organized to pay a visit to America in July or August to shoot against some of the American club teams. Judging by the scores published in the American papers, the home team would seem to have little chance of success, especially as only one barrel is used. There is a strong opinion, however, that the flight of the bird is not so difficult as it is here, but whether this be so or not the fact remains that the extraordi nary scores that are of such frequent occurrence at American clubs have never been repeated this side of the Atlantic. "If the American clubs could send a team over here to take part in an international contest at the championship meeting, to be held in June or July next, it would be certain to create a large amount of interest, and our American friends may rest assured they would receive a very hearty welcome. Once started, the contest would probably become an annual affair and lead to a very interesting series of matches. If it is not possible to arrange for the visit for the coming championship meeting, the fact of an English team journeying to America would probably act as a stimulus for one being organized for the succeeding year."

THE agitation favoring the inspection of the Ohio by the state board of health should be encouraged. It will certainly do us no harm to know the exact amount of liquid filth we swallow every time we drink river water, and it may result in proving even to the taxpayers, who object to improvements in the water best, and, in addition to the usual choir system, that filtration is an absolute and congregational singing, a male quarnecessity.

THE BATTLE OF A TRUST.

The fight of the sugar trust against the annexation of Hawaii is interesting because the result will show the real power of that great combination. The trust will suffer severely if the island republic becomes an American state. It may even cease to dominate the market it has so long held in its grasp. For that reason it will do battle until there is no longer any hope for victory. That it has gained some headway in congress it would be useless to deny, but even that should not be taken as indication of final tory. The people want Hawaii, believing that it will not only improve the condition of the islanders, but that it will serve their country in good stead when the time for action arrives. A large part of the next century's history will be written in the Orient, and if we are to have any part in it as a nation, con- Hoarseness and Quinsy. gress must use its power against the power of the sugar magnets, who would not hesitate to barter national honor for a few more millions. The Republican party will be compelled to make a great many excuses to the people should the trust succeed in gaining the day.

WILL ELECT OFFICERS

Meeting of the Hospital Association Tomorrow.

NO OTHER BUSINESS SCHEDULED

The Annual Session Will Convene at the Y. M. C. A., but Nothing Connected With the Real Work of the Organization Will Be Done-The Committee's Plans.

A meeting of the Hospital association has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Young Men's Christian association. It is the annual meeting of the association, and no other business than the election of officers will be transacted.

The hospital matter is now in the hands of the committee appointed by council and the committee from the association. That leaves but little work for the association, but a full attendance is desired.

The committee has a meeting every Monday evening, and the members are working hard. Secretary Keffer said this morning that they were corresponding with a number of parties with a view to ascertaining just what East Liverpool wanted and how much in the way of a hospital it could support. It is possible the committee will visit a number of towns and inspect the hospitals they have and their systems of management.

"It is the purpose of the committee," said Mr. Keffer, "to make its report as complete as possible. We desire to go so far into the subject that we will leave no important part of this very important matter untouched. We want to go on record in the statement, and that we cannot do until we have made thorough investigation. It will probably require two months before we ean give the report we desire."

THE MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE AR-RANGING TO TAKE ONE.

Leprosy's Rapid Spread Has Alarmed Uncle Sam-More Cases In America Than Generally Supposed -Obscure Forms of those antitoxines used successfully the Disease-Inoculation Experiments.

Uncle Sam is arranging for the first counting of lepers ever made within our been made with it. The chief difficulty boundaries. He has received information warning him that leprosy, the most propagate in gelatin and other sub terrible curse of ancient and modern stances used as microbe food in bacteritimes, is on the increase in America and that danger threatens vs from neighboring countries surrounding us on this continent.

The senate bill authorizing Surgeon General Wyman, in charge of the marine hospital service, to form a commission to count the number of cases and report upon their origin is being put through congress, where it appears to have no opposition.

Surgeon General Wyman lately dispatched to the international leprosy conference at Berlin his chief bacteriofogist, Dr. J. J. Kinyoun, who has returned laden with many fresh facts concerning the dread contagion. Dr. Kinyoun recommends that we count our lepers at once before taking further steps to stamp out possibilities of their spreading their misfortune. No one knows exactly how many lepers there are in the United States. It has been estimated no doubt be the institution of a national that there are from 200 to 500 with leper colony or hospital where he can marked symptoms. Our national quarantine laws provide for the detention of the States or at ports of entrance. - New leprous immigrants knocking at our

Dr. Kinyoun learned, however, while abroad that leprosy has lately been discovered to exist in a number of forms in which it is difficult to recognize it. Several obscure nervous and skin diseases known by other names have lately been attributed directly to the deadly microbe of leprosy. A malady hitherto known as Morvan's disease is caused by that bacillus. Sufferers from it are lepers, of course, though they do not suffer from the external lesions, sores or scales characteristic of common lep-

These internal forms of leprosy are now known abroad to be as contagious and infectious as the well known form, and their results are even more violent. They are common to localities inhabited by lepers of the ordinary type, but unsuspected sufferers have thus far been spared isolation. Other diseases hitherto known as syringomylia and airhum have also been found to be forms of leprosy in which the germs attacked the nervous system. It is very possible that these unsuspicious forms have entered our ports from abroad and that we have uch cases propagating among healthy inhabitants.

New Orleans is the most serious internal focus of leprosy upon which Uncle Sam has his eagle eye. The number of cases are reported to be increasing in that city, although Louisiana now has a law for the isolation of lepers. As last reported, they number about 31, confined and isolated in a home on wha is called the old Indian Camp planta tion, in Iberville parish.

Key West is suspected as another foons of leprosy, the disease being import ed there and the climate being particularly favorable, it is alleged, for it propagation.

San Francisco is counted as a close second to New Orleans in the relative scale of this same danger. Leprosy is known to exist there among the Chinese population. Some authorities would look with suspicion upon all thickly settled Chinese quarters as promising fields for a search after the contagion Minnesota offers additional danger points whence the infection might spread. A number of cases isolated there were originally brought to the state by Norwegian immigrants. It has also been estimated that in Iowa and Wisconsin there may be many persons tainted with leprosy brought from Norway, those states being populated with many Norwegian immigrants. Leprosy has wormed its way in recent years into Philadelphia and New York.

Three years ago two girls were found to be suffering from leprosy in New Lexington, O. One was 18 years old and the other, her sister, was 8. Though the elder had shown symptoms of the disease since an infant, the younger child was allowed to sleep with her. It was believed that the father of the subjects had contracted the disease in the late war. Would we be exposed to increased dangers from leprosy through the annexation of Hawaii or Cuba? Just now these are mooted questions. There are 2,500 known cases of leprosy in Hawaii, but according to the present law in vogue there each case when discovered must be isolated in the famous leper colony on the gloomy island of Molokai, one of the Hawaiian group. The Hawaiian law is so severe against the unfortunates that it reacts to a great extent against its own enforcement. As a result many lepers on the islands are purposely concealed from the authorities by relatives and friends. As far as Cuba is concerned, leprosy is known to be dangerously rampant upon that island. It is said that lepers are frequently seen in the streets of Havana. Near our border lines we are still further endangered by its existence, not only in Cuba, but in Canada and the United tates of Colombia in South America. Into the last named it was introduced by a Spanish priest in 1646 and since then has rapidly spread until now, when it is estimated to have 30,000 victims and perhaps more.

Experiments recently made abroad had for their purpose the discovery of a serum antitoxine for leprosy similar to against diphtheria and other diseases Lepers were incculated with the serun, but as yet no significant success has is that the microbe of leprosy refuses to ological laboratories. The time it requires before beginning its deadly work after entering the system cannot therefore be estimated.

Perhaps the most satisfactory experiment from a medicinal point of view yet made with leprous germs was accomplished not long since upon a native Hawaiian criminal sentenced to death, but pardoned on condition that he would give himself over to bacteriologists as a subject of experiment. From the body of a leper who had just died were taken fresh bacilli lepræ. These were planted in the arm of the condemned. The first symptoms of leprosy appeared after a few montrs, and five years later the poor wretch died from the awful sting of the disease. Similar experiments have since been made with rabbits and other animals.

The end of Uncle Sam's efforts will safely isolate all lepers discovered in York Herald

FELL OUT OF A WINDOW

After He Had Rolled Down Two Flights of Stairs.

JAMES M'COLLOUGH'S MISHAPS

Would Have Killed an Ordinary Man, but He Escaped With a Sprained Ankle-He Is a Stranger and Is Working on the Pipe

James McCollough, an Altoona, Pa., man, who is employed on the pipe line being built by the Ohio Valley company, is at his boarding house in Market street suffering from a sprained ankle. The injury is the result of falls which might have killed an ordinary man.

McCollough and a friend occupied a room in the third story of the building formerly used as the young woman's home, and last night he went to the sitchen to get his companion a cap of coffee. After he had climbed the second fight of stairs he rolled to the landing below and from there to the first floor. Strange to say he was not badly hurt. and he returned to the room.

A little later McCullough went to the window, and leaning out fell. He alighted on the veranda, and on attempting to rise found this time that he had not been so fortunate. His cries soon brought assistance, and he was put to bed. Then it was found that his ankle had been sprained, and that he would not be able to work for a few days. McCollough told a reporter this morning that beyond that injury he was all right and felt well.

THE WEEK IN THE SENATE.

Hawali, Appropriations and Corbett's Case to Occupy the Time.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.-The attention of the senate this week will in all probability be divided between the Hawaiian annexation treaty, appropriation bills and the right of Hon. H. W. Corbett to a seat in the senate from Oregon. The treaty will probably occupy the greater share of attention today, but after that Sketches of the Career time the committee on appropriations will claim the time of the senate for the Indian appropriation bill, which it is expected will be reported early in the

This bil! will provoke considerable debate and by the time it is disposed of the comm tree on appropriations hope to have the fortifications bill before the senate. Senator Hoar will at the same time press the Corbett matter upon the attention of the senate as a matter of the highest privilege and several speeches will be made upon it. It does not appear probable, however, that a vote will be reached during the week on the Corbett resolution.

A CONTESTED ELECTION CASE.

Will Divide the Time With Other Matters In the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—It is probable that the program of the house, which has been confined almost exclusively this session to the consideration of appropriation bills, will be varied this week with the consideration of a contested election case. It is the purpose of the house leaders to keep the appropriation bills to the front in order to obtain an early final djournment, or, as the alternative, throw the responsibility for delay on the senate.

But, after the fortifications bill is disosed of, only one other appropriation bill is on the calendar for the present— the military academy—and it should not consume more than a few hours. It is the intention of the leaders, therefore, to fill the hiatus this week with the consideration of the Aldrich-Plowman contested election case from the Fourth Alabama district.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 .- Admiral Selfridge, who has just relinquished the command of the European station, went upon the retired list of the navy with the close of Saturday, having reached the age fixed by law.

The event is entirely peculiar in our naval history in that there will then be presented the spectacle of a father and son both on the retired list on account of age after having reached the highest grade in the navy. The father, Tho: as O. Selfridge, is now living in Washington, having retired in 1866 after 361/2 years' service, and his name now heads the naval retired list. The son, likewise named Thomas O. CONTINUED. XXVII. RE-ELECTION.

The bank veto was accompanied by a long and exhaustive paper, which the New York American characterized as "indeed and verily beneath contempt, an appeal of ignorance to ignorance or prejudice to prejudice of the most unblushing partisan hostility to the obsequiousness of partisan servility." Yet this "appeal of ignorance to ignorance" was answered by the people in no uncertain tones, issued, as it was, on the we of another presidential election and not long after the sorrowing American exclaimed: "The city is lost. The returns from the country come in all one way. There is no doubt that Jackson and Van Buren are elected."

They surely were, if the evidence of their popularity could be gauged by 219 electoral votes out of a possible 288. The opposition despaired of ever rescuing the country from the grip of "those rapacious rascals" who had it by the throat. But it was not many months before most of the opposition papers were hurraning for General Jackson in admiration of his energetic action and proclamation in regard to the nullifiers. "The intensely national and antiseparatist tone of Jackson's declaration,' says Mr. Roosevelt in his "Life of Benton," "a document that might have well come from Washington or Lincoln and that would have reflected high honor on either, though warmly approved by Benton, was very repugnant to many of the southern Democrats and was too much even for certain of the Whigs. In fact, it reads like the utterance of some great Federalist or Republican

Doubtless the old general's hatred of Calhoun had much to do with the issuing of this proclamation and the ordering of troops and ships of war to South Carolina, the state, as he thought, of his nativity. It has often been declared that if Andrew Jackson had been in the presidential chair when the ultimate ordinances of secession were passed, 29 years later, he would have acted as promptly as he did on this occasion. but at that time it was the tariff, latterly the slavery question, which gave the southerners their grievance, and it is not believed that Jackson, the owner of 150 slaves, would have acted as disinterestedly as did Benton when the fugitive slave act was passed in 1850. We know that he weakened and rather than use the force he so vauntingly displayed signed, though against his convictions, Clay's celebrated "compromise bill," by which a gradual reduction was made in the obnoxious duties and the nullifiers placated somewhat.

During the summer of 1833, when his to treat himself to the wine of universal adulation by indulging in some little trips about the country, but at the outset of his travels he was impressed with the unwelcome fact that there were some who did not willingly contribute their voices to swell the pean of praise. It was while he was going down the Potomac for the purpose of laying the cornerstone of the Mary Washington monument that, the steamer having stopped at Alexandria, a certain Lieutenant Randolph came aboard and pulled, or attempted to pull, the president's nose.

He escaped with whole skin, this recaccounted for by the position in which he found the president when assaulted, pinned in between a table and a chair. A fiery Alexandrian offered to pursue and slay the rascal if he could be assured of pardon in case of conviction, laski Citizen.

but the gallant old general proudly said : "No, sir; I cannot do that. I want no man to stand between me and my assailants and none to take revenge on my account. But had I been prepared for this cowardly villain's approach I can assure you all that he would never have had the temerity to undertake such a thing again.'

No one, knowing him, can doubt this. particularly remembering his similar reply to another under similar circumstances at the time of the Benton affray. The bullet he received at that time, by the way, was not extracted till the winter preceding this last assault, this happening, by the strangest of coincidences, when Jessie Benton's brother was giving To Suit All Eyes. the lie to Mr. Clay on the president's account.

Having performed the pious duty assigned him of presiding at the laying of the cornerstone, though the monument was not erected until 40 years after, the president returned to Washington, and early in June set out for a tour through the north and east, going as far as Concord, N. H., and Salem. Mass., being everywhere received "with every demonstration of regard which ingenuity could devise."

The time finally arrived for the expiry of the bank charter, an event its officials could not prevent or postpone, though they raised heaven and earththe Jacksonians said, also, another place down below. "I tell you," said the president one day to a member of the "kitchen cabinet" (whether to Lewis, Kendall, Greene or Hill is not stated), "the bank is broke. She's broke, sir. Mr. Biddle is a proud man, sir, and he would never have come on to Washington to ask for a postponement if the bank had had the money. Never, sir. The bank's broke, and Biddle knows it." And when nine years later the poor old bank went down he was wont to point to this prediction and exultantly say, "I told you so."

A fixed idea with him now was that the government deposits with the bank were being used to debauch the congress. "My mind is made up on that matter," he said to the editor of his organ, The Globe. "Biddle, you know, is actually using the people's money to frustrate the people's will. If he had not the public money, he could not do it." Ergo, he was no longer to have the public moneys. They were gradually withdrawn, all deposits also ceasing, the increasing surplus being finally deposited with state banks in various parts of the country. This was the last and decisive blow at the United States bank

"The ship, the landing, the custom house, the train, the hotelall these were mere preliminaries to Europe, which began then. People told me in America how my hear would swell at this and how I would thrill at that, but it was not so. My first real thrill came on me in Piccadilly. It went all over me in little shivers and came out at the ends of my fingers and then began once more at the base of my brain and did it all over again.

"I remember nothing definite about that first drive. I, for my part, saw with unseeing eyes. My sister had seen it all before, so she had the power of speech. Occasionally she prodded me and cried, 'Look, oh, look quickly!' But I never swerved. 'I can't look. If I do, I shall miss something. You attend to your own window and I'll attend to mine.
